Bonus Terms & Conditions

This Bonus Terms & Conditions ("Bonus Agreement") serves as a legally binding addendum to the overarching Client Agreement and strictly governs the issuance, usage, and withdrawal of promotional funds provided by NFXTrade. Before receiving a Bonus from the Company, you, the Client, must read, understand and accept the provisions of the Bonus Terms & Conditions ("Bonus Agreement"). The Company reserves the unilateral right to grant, withhold, or revoke Bonus benefits at its sole and absolute discretion.

1. Defined Terms

- Bonus: Any financial award, promotional credit, or trading benefit credited to the Client's account by the Company. Bonuses are strictly non-transferable and non-refundable.
- Bonus Period: A strict limitation of 90 calendar days commencing from the exact date the Bonus is credited to the Client's account.
- Minimum Volume: The mandatory notional trading volume required to unlock the Bonus for withdrawal. This is calculated as: (Client Deposit Amount + Bonus Amount) × 20,000.
- Withdrawal Balance: The cleared, unencumbered funds remaining in the Client's account that are eligible for immediate withdrawal.
- Company: Fynsera Capital Ltd a registered legal entity and licensed International Brokerage and Clearing House operating under the Anjouan Offshore Finance Authority (AOFA) within the Union of the Comoros.

2. Eligibility and Allocation Dynamics

- The issuance of any Bonus is contingent upon the Client fully satisfying all Know Your Customer (KYC) compliance mandates, submitting all requested verification documentation, and depositing the minimum required capital.
- The Client is deemed to have accepted the Bonus upon explicitly returning a signed Bonus Agreement, executing a digital equivalent, or actively trading with the credited funds.
- Bonus offers are only valid for the specific timeframe dictated by the Company; expired offers render the Client ineligible for the promotion.
- In all trading activities, the Client's real deposited funds will inherently be utilized and exposed to market risk prior to the deployment of any credited Bonus funds.

3. Volume Requirements and Withdrawal Stipulations

- To successfully convert Bonus funds into withdrawable equity, the Client must fully execute a notional open trading volume equal to the Minimum Volume Example: The Client deposited USD 1,000 and received a Bonus of USD 1,000. Then, the Minimum Volume in order for the Client to be eligible to withdraw (and to reach the Withdrawal Balance) will be 40,000,000 USD [= (1,000+1,000) *20,000].
- Partial Bonus conversions are strictly prohibited; the Minimum Volume must be achieved in its entirety.
- Clients may only initiate a withdrawal request if their trading account reflects zero open positions at the time of submission.

4. Early Withdrawal Penalties and Bonus Forfeiture

- If a Client fails to achieve the Minimum Volume within the 90-day Bonus Period, the Company reserves the absolute right to cancel the Bonus and unilaterally deduct it from the Client's equity. In such cases, the Client's Withdrawal Balance will be strictly calculated as their total deposits minus their total realized trading losses.
- If a Client requests a withdrawal prior to achieving the Minimum Volume, the Client's credited Bonus and all accumulated trading profits will instantly become null and void. Furthermore, this early withdrawal action will trigger a punitive administrative fee equal to 20% of the Client's requested Withdrawal Amount. Any realized trading losses will be deducted from the remaining available funds.

5. Account Inactivity and Expiration

- Should a Client's account be administratively classified as inactive by the Company, the Company is legally authorized to immediately remove and redeem all Bonus credits from the account without prior notice.
- If the Minimum Volume is not met prior to the expiration of the Bonus Period, the Bonus immediately invalidates and will be stripped from the account ledger.

6. Anti-Fraud, Abuse, and Duplicate Accounts

- The registration of duplicate accounts to harvest multiple Bonuses is strictly prohibited. If the Company detects duplicate or linked accounts, it reserves the right to immediately terminate the accounts without prior notice, permanently retain the allocated Bonuses, void all trading earnings, and return only the original principal deposits minus applicable losses and administrative fees.

- If the Company suspects, or possesses reason to believe, that a Client has engaged in manipulative, abusive, or fraudulent activity to exploit a Bonus promotion, the Company reserves the unilateral right to:
    - Cancel or reject the Bonus promotion entirely.
    - Terminate the Client's access to the trading platform and sever the Client Agreement.
    - Block the offending account(s) and forcibly transfer back only the eligible Withdrawal Balance.

7. Limitation of Liability and General Provisions

- The Company shall bear zero liability for any direct or indirect financial consequences, including forced margin calls or stop-outs resulting from the suspension, cancellation, or termination of a Bonus credit.
- Accepting a Bonus constitutes an automatic, legally binding agreement that all terms and clauses herein are of the essence.
- If any specific provision of this Bonus Agreement is deemed legally unenforceable, it shall not affect the validity or enforceability of the remaining provisions (Severability).
- Any delay or omission by the Company in enforcing its rights under this agreement shall not constitute a waiver of those rights on any subsequent occasion.
- For any inquiries regarding Bonus parameters, the Client may contact their designated account manager via email.

8. Margin Utilization

- Bonus as Margin Buffer Only: The Bonus is provided solely as a margin buffer to increase the Client's purchasing power. It cannot be used to absorb aggregate trading losses that exceed the Client's actual deposited funds. If the Client's real equity (excluding the Bonus) drops below the required margin levels or reaches zero, the Company reserves the right to automatically execute a Stop-Out and strip the Bonus from the account to prevent a negative balance.
